

Ethogram Study

Choose a person or animal to study. Research some behaviors they might exhibit and put them on the chart below. Then, watch that particular animal for three minutes. Every time you see a specific behavior put an "x" in the column. If you observe a new behavior, add it to the list. Do this several times a day to see what their common behaviors are. For an even better understanding, observe your person or animal for several days. What did you find out?!
